Nasser Turns Down Canal Control Plan

Refusal Jolts Hope Of Some Compromise

British Parliament
To Meet Sept. 12 In Emergency Session

LONDON, Sept. 6 (AP)—President Nasser has refused to accept an 18-nation plan for international control of the Suez Canal as a basis for settling the dispute. Western diplomats said tonight.

Prime Minister Eden summoned Parliament to meet Sept. 12 in an emergency session to debate the next step as prospects for a quick settlement appeared to dwindle.

The talks in Cairo between Nasser and Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies' five-nation committee were in recess, at least until Saturday.

There was speculation in Cairo that Menzies' mission was seeking power to negotiate a compromise with Nasser over the canal he seized July 26. The committee was sent to Cairo by the London Suez conference with authority only to present the plan.

Secrecy Veils Talks

The Cairo talks were shrouded in secrecy. The only official word from there was that the talks had taken a new turn, and the Menzies mission members needed time to discuss Nasser's views among themselves.

Western diplomats in London, however, said Nasser's rejection of international control appears to be flat and final.

Diplomats said Menzies' committee will meet with Nasser at least once more, probably Saturday.

Unless there is some last-minute reversal of Egypt's position, Menzies is expected to lead his committee out of Cairo without agreement by Monday, the informants added.

Nasser Offers Safeguards

The slim hope of some compromise seemed to hang on Nasser's announced willingness to negotiate new arrangements governing the use of the 103-mile waterway under continued Egyptian control.

Diplomats said Nasser has emphasized these arrangements could provide strong safeguards to keep the canal open for world shipping.

"It's theoretically possible that with scissors and paste the main principles in the 18-nation plan could be joined with Nasser's to produce an effective regime for the Suez," one diplomat said.

Egypt has been insisting on retaining powers to control and manage the canal, with foreign advice and help if necessary.

Eden, however, has said Britain cannot accept Egypt's unfettered control of the canal.

Publisher Told Doctor Shooting Accidental

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic, Sept. 6 (AP)—The publisher of the magazine Confidential was quoted today as saying the shot that wounded him was fired by accident.

That made it just about unanimous among the stories told by the principals in the strange case of publisher Robert Harrison, 50, and the man who felt Confidential wronged him, Richard Welyd, 35, jungle trapper.

Harrison was found in the jungle yesterday, the day after the shooting, and was brought here with a wound in his shoulder.

Dr. Jose Soba, director of a hospital here, said Harrison told him on the drive in that the shooting was an accident.

Welyd told police he met the Harrison party in the jungle by chance and argued loudly with Harrison over a story in Confidential about him, his former wife and movie actor John Wayne. His ex-wife is now Mrs. John Wayne.

Nixon Throws Counterattack At Stevenson

Demo Candidate's Views On H-Bomb Tests, Draft Rapped

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6 (AP)—Vice President Nixon threw a three-pronged counterattack at Adlai Stevenson today, asserting it would have been "not only naive but dangerous" for the United States to discontinue testing nuclear weapons.

Nixon did not mention the Democratic presidential candidate by name.

But in a speech to the American Legion convention, from the same platform where Stevenson spoke Wednesday, the vice president blasted at three main points in Stevenson's speech. They were:

1. Hydrogen bomb tests.

"I realize that there are those . . . who sincerely believe we should have discontinued testing of hydrogen bombs if other nations would have offered to follow a similar policy."

"Naive And Dangerous"

"I respectfully submit that for us to have followed this advice would have been not only naive but dangerous to our national security."

2. Ending the military draft.

"I realize that it is always tempting to tell the voters that there is an easy way to meet difficult problems. I would like to tell you that we can safely cut our armed forces, get rid of the draft, cut our defense spending and thereby reduce our taxes."

"Unfortunately, however, the easy way is seldom the right way."

3. America in the eyes of the world.

"I cannot agree with those who seek to tell proclaiming that American prestige in the world is at an all-time low. I have traveled two times around the world in the past three and a half years. . . .

I can tell you that there is a great well of friendship and respect for the people and the government of the United States in every country I visited."

Applause But No Boos

2. Called on American labor to march with the Democrats "along the road to the new America."

Stevenson and his vice-presidential running mate, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, got a standing ovation from the convention's 1,500 whistling, cheering, foot-stamping delegates of the million-member union.

The welcome was in contrast to yesterday's demonstration of mixed cheers and boos from the American Legion convention in Los Angeles.

Resembles Demo Conclave

Many delegates paraded in front of the rostrum with Stevenson-Kefauver signs and state standards, delaying Stevenson's address about 10 minutes.

Stevenson said that at this point the world faces "one of the most critical periods in human history" and charged that the administration is "putting partisan politics far ahead of the ultimate good of the American people."

"To stand complacently by and say all is well seems to me lamentable, dangerous, and insincere," he said.

School Attendance Increases At Clinton

CLINTON, Tenn., Sept. 6 (AP)—Nearly half the students of Clinton High School came to classes today. It was the best attendance since admission of Negro students brought on riotous agitation last weekend.

The National Guard, which came in with men and tanks Sunday, still occupies Clinton, but it is tapering off both its numbers and its activity. Last night, the first without patrols and roadblocks, passed with only minor scuffles.

Adj. Gen. Joe Henry said 200 of the original 633-man force have left.

Anne Arundel County police at nearby Ferndale said the man apparently escaped serious injury. He was blown to safety when the car exploded.

The man's brother, who gave this account to investigators, said he had suffered only hand and face burns. The brother said the man had attempted suicide once before.

Mars Gives Astronomers Closest Look In 32 Years

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (AP)—Mars flattered with earth tonight, giving us its closest tantalizing wink in 32 years.

This time the red-hued planet may yield some answers to its secrets. Motion pictures through the telescope's eye could help.

Astronomers over the world tuned in telescopes, hoping to solve puzzles of Mars' "canals," its red deserts, its green or blue "gardens" of vegetation, dust storms, thin polar icecaps, and mysterious "W"-shaped clouds sometimes seen on its face.

Ordinary persons looked up and wondered—does Mars bear life like ours?

Judging from a bombardment of telephone calls, many want to think there is, said an astronomer at the Hayden Planetarium. New York. Maybe, he said, they want to think we are not alone in the universe.

The witching hour for Mars came at 1 a.m. EDT Friday, when Mars wheeled within 35,120,000 miles of earth. Not since 1924 has it been so close. Not until 1971 will Mars come so near again.

Actually there was nothing witching about that exact hour to astronomers. For weeks and months before and after this moment of closest approach, Mars is near enough for valuable and revealing observations and photo-graphs, even as it goes away.

Mars is traveling through space at 15 miles a second, or 54,000 miles an hour. But actually it will be only several hundred thousand miles closer tonight than last night, because it is traveling on an arc in respect to the sun.

Girl Lectures British Scientists For Errors About U.S. Cockroach

SHEFFIELD, England, Sept. 6 (UPI)—A 19-year-old student lectured British scientists today for "elementary mistakes" about the American cockroach (Periplaneta Americana).

Blue-eyed blonde Anne Bunting was invited to address the British Society for the Advancement of Science. It includes some of the nation's most eminent scholars, and has a policy of extending invitations to bright young students. "Something is radically wrong with the way in which subject matters are taught, especially when these errors have passed without challenge our correction through many editions of textbooks and numerous prints," she told the society.

Staring sternly at the professors, she went on:

"It makes people lose faith in textbooks which are acknowledged works for study, up to and including university levels."

USS Constellation Brass Rail Stolen

BALTIMORE, Sept. 6 (UPI)—Thieves have joined time in gnawing away at the old fighting ship, the USS Constellation.

A maintenance party reached for a brass railing to hoist themselves aboard yesterday and found 70 feet of it missing.

A local commission plans to install the vessel in a dry dock and after repair work on this oldest commissioner U.S. warship afloat, turn it into a national shrine.

"They unfold by gravity," she added.

Anne said as a student she has made a study of the cockroach and she knows what she's talking about. The British call the large black type of flying cockroach the American cockroach. Its more formal name is Periplaneta Americana.

When she finished her lecture to a crowded auditorium Dr. F. J. Rose, head of the department of geobiology at the National Museum of Wales, rose and quickly said:

"I do not think it would be wise to invite comments on this one. There may be some irate writers of textbooks in the audience."

The professors filed out like spanked schoolboys.

One elderly scientist started to say something, but Miss Bunting stared him down and said:

"Errors such as these can only be attributed to compilers of textbooks being unable to abstract intelligently or, even worse, copy from previous textbooks without checking on their veracity."

Anne said all the British biologists and entomologists have been wrong about the incubation period of cockroach eggs, wrong about the next stage of development and wrong also when they say the cockroach wings are unfolded by gaseous pressure.

"They unfold by gravity," she added.

Anne said as a student she has made a study of the cockroach and she knows what she's talking about. The British call the large black type of flying cockroach the American cockroach. Its more formal name is Periplaneta Americana.

U.S. Offers To Open Talks With Romania

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—The few days, State Department officials said.

To set the stage for the conference, the department disclosed it has eased travel restriction on Romanian diplomats here. This move came two weeks after Romanian authorities relaxed similar travel restrictions on American diplomats in Romania.

Top American officials said the proposed conference would serve to test the sincerity of Romania's professed desire to put relations with the United States on a friendlier basis.

For nearly a year Romanian authorities, apparently following Moscow's cue, have been leading the Soviet European satellites in pleas for more trade, cultural and political contacts with the United States.

In agreeing to the talks, the State Department made clear in today's announcement that it wanted to discuss especially existing restrictions on the "functions, personnel and activities" of the American legation in Bucharest.

During the Civil war, soldiers from Tennessee were called "Butternuts" from the color of their uniforms.

Butler Answers Charges Made By His Opponent

BALTIMORE, Sept. 6 (AP)—Sen. Butler (R-Md.) said today President Eisenhower had called him "a valuable member of the Administration team."

Butler campaigning for re-election against Democrat George P. Mahoney, made the statement in a speech before a Kiwanis group.

Mahoney had said the Republican senator's record was "almost diametrically opposite" that of the Republican Administration's. He said the two had differed on foreign aid, military aid to Europe, federal aid to schools and other issues.

Butler told the Kiwanis it was true he and President Eisenhower had had their differences on such items as the Bricker Amendment. But these were relatively few and the President understood his points of view, he said.

Butler also replied to Mahoney's charge of last Tuesday that his attendance record in the Senate was "a shameful one." Mahoney had listed 35 absences by Butler on 139 rollcalls.

The senator said 16 of these were caused by official business and 10 because of illness. He was present but paired his vote on two other occasions, he said, leaving only seven other absences.

Butler forecast another Republican victory in November because of the party's accomplishments toward "peace, progress and prosperity."

Polio Season May Have Passed Peak

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—The number of new polio cases in the nation dropped off last week and the U.S. Public Health Service says the 1956 season may have passed its peak.

The total of 827 new cases listed by the states for last week was 56 less than the week of Aug. 25 when 943 cases were reported.

The dip was the first break in the polio pattern, which has shown a weekly upturn since the start of the 1956 season in April.

The case load reported throughout the summer has been consistently lower than in previous years. Last week's 887 was the smallest for any comparable week since 1947 and far less than half of the 2,056 cases for a similar week in 1955. There has been widespread use of the Salk antipolio vaccine this year.

The leading edge of the cold air extended from Western New York states through the Ohio Valley into Western Texas.

Canadian Cold Air Moving Into East

By The Associated Press
CANADIAN cold air blasted the East Thursday after dipping temperatures 15 to 30 degrees through the Lower Great Lakes and mid-Mississippi Valley.

Showers and thunderstorms preceded the cool air and were scattered from the New England States south to Florida and along the Gulf Coast to Texas.

Isolated thunderstorms dumped large amounts of water. In southwestern Virginia, a Roanoke to Lexington, Ky., highway section was covered by 6 inches of water. Blairsville, Pa., had almost 2 inches of rain in a short morning spell.

Russia's woman health minister, Dr. Maria Kovriginia, accepted with "great gratitude" White's formal invitation to four leading Russian doctors to visit the United States "as our guests for a period of six to eight weeks to study and work with us."

White told Dr. Kovriginia his group of American health experts had been received with warm-hearted hospitality everywhere they went in Russia. The limited nature of their visit, he said, made it impossible for them to compare methods of heart disease treatment here and in the United States, "but generally speaking the problems here are like our own."

"Both countries have lots of heart disease and the types are generally similar," White added.

White Asks Russia Join U. S. In War On Heart Disease

MOSCOW, Sept. 6 (AP)—Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist who treats President Eisenhower, invited the Soviet Union today to join the United States in "war on our common enemy—heart disease."

White is visiting the Soviet Union with five other U.S. doctors for a nine-day study of Russian medical practices. He told a news conference at the Soviet Health Ministry the two countries face common problems in combating heart ailments.

Russia's woman health minister, Dr. Maria Kovriginia, accepted with "great gratitude" White's formal invitation to four leading Russian doctors to visit the United States "as our guests for a period of six to eight weeks to study and work with us."

Council Of Church Women Vote Board Of Managers

Two chairmanship vacancies were filled and the constitution was read for the third time, and accepted as corrected, at the first meeting of the year of the Cumberland Council of Church Women, which was held yesterday in the parish house of Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

Naming a board of managers was included in the revised constitution. The Nominating committee will report at the meeting November 1, and election is to be in January.

Mrs. L. G. Bridgers, first vice president, presided and appointed Mrs. Wayne Eberly, wife of the new pastor at Living Stone Church of the Brethren, Leadership chairman replacing Mrs. Raymond Faulds. Rev. Faulds has resigned as pastor of Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church to accept the charge of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed Church, Mechanicsburg, Pa. Mrs. Eberly will have charge of the devotions for the next meeting November 1. Mrs. John Nicklin was appointed World Mission chairman and will arrange for the World Day of Prayer, which will be held March 8, 1957. She replaces Mrs. Frederick Eckert, whose husband has accepted the pastorate at First English Lutheran Church, Richmand, Va.

"For the Sake of My Brethren and My Kinsmen" was announced by Mrs. Ross Decker, World Community Day chairman, as the theme of the year. She reported the service will be held November 2 at 7:30 p.m. in Emmanuel Episcopal Church. She also announced she is considering having a children's service this year.

She asked that the women bring parcels for peace, including clothes for boys 16 and up; men's clothes, especially suits and overcoats; yard material, principally denim and sheeting, for refugee mothers to make work clothes for their husbands and children. Mrs. Decker pointed out it need not be new packages will be sent to India, Pakistan, Korea, Hong Kong, the Near East, Japan, Greece, Italy and Germany.

Mrs. John S. Cook conducted the devotional period on "Democracy in Christian Fellowship or Human Rights." She also read the Scripture. Mrs. Bridgers offered the opening prayer. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Wallace Wilson and Mrs. Jack Means. Mrs. A. E. Kesecker, delegate to the state meeting in Baltimore in May, gave her report. Mrs. J. A. Leader reported three new subscribers to the Church Woman magazine.

Announcement was made that the New Windsor truck will be in Cumberland Monday to pick up packages at the church of the Brethren, Cedar Street, and First Presbyterian Church, Washington Street.

12 States Represented In Dog Show

Entries from 12 states will appear in the third annual All Breed Dog Show, Mrs. Earl Smith, Show chairman, announced at the monthly meeting of the Upper Potomac Valley Kennel Club, sponsor of the show, held this week.

The show will be held tomorrow in the National Guard Armory, Water Street, Frostburg, and is for the benefit of the Potomac Lions Club Sight Conservation program. It will be open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. and is under the supervision of the Foley Dog Show Organization of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Smith said top dogs from Florida, Illinois, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Pennsylvania, North Carolina and Maryland are being shown.

Walter H. Reeves, Clarkson, Ontario, Canada; William H. Ackland, Washington; and Maxwell Riddle, Ravenna, Ohio, will be the judges. They will arrive today and begin judging in all three rings at 10 a.m. Dr. C. N. Foose Jr. and Dr. John Roop will be on hand at 8 a.m. to examine all dogs entering the show, as required by the national organization. Any dog suffering from a contagious disease will be barred from the show.

Persons attending the show for their first time at such an event are requested to contact any club member for assistance in understanding the judging procedure. Catalogues showing the entries will be available.

At 2:30 p.m., an entertaining feature of this year's show will be an obedience training demonstration. Mrs. Smith points out that this should be of interest to all dog owners, because such training is practicable for all dogs. Only the dogs most nearly conforming to the standards of perfection set up by the American Kennel Club can become champions in the show ring, but any dog properly trained can win Obedience degrees.

Showers Given For Bride-Elect

Among the pre-nuptial parties given in compliment to Miss Shirley Lou Lester was a miscellaneous shower by Mrs. James Haycox and a personal shower by Miss Ruth Lester. Mrs. Haycox entertained at her home in Cresaptown. Eight guests attended. Miss Lester was hostess to 16 guests at her home on Bedford Street. She used pink and white decorations, with the table centered with a miniature bride's cake.

The daughter of Mrs. Charles William Lester, 840 Gephart Drive, and the late Mr. Lester, Miss Lester is to become the bride of Don Gene Chidester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley C. Chidester, Frostburg, this evening. The wedding will be performed at 7 o'clock in Grace Baptist Church.

The approaching marriage of Miss Marilyn Miller to Allen Carl Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bennett, Bedford Road, has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Miller, Centreville, Pa., parents of the bride-elect.

The ceremony is to be performed at 7 p.m. Saturday in Centenary Methodist Church, with Rev. Louis L. Emerick officiating. Friends are welcome to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Lewis and son, William Jr., 220 Harrison Street, have returned from Roanoke, Va., where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Lewis' aunt, Rev. Leonard Paganhardt Sr. While in Virginia, they were guests of Rev. Ervin Orndorff and family. They also visited Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Crutchfield, the latter, the former Miss Virginia Orndorff.

FORMER 4-H MEMBERS CAN BE NOMINATED IN NEW AWARD PROGRAM HONORING ADULTS

Do you know a member of your community whom you consider a notable success in his or her chosen career or who has an outstanding record as a citizen or as a leader in community and public affairs? And is this person a former 4-H member?

And have you often thought that that person should receive some form of public recognition for his or her acceptance of citizenship responsibilities and achievement in life?

If so, you now have the opportunity to do something about it, according to G. L. Noble, director of the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, who recently announced that the Plant Food Division of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation would again sponsor the National 4-H Alumni Recognition Program, the only 4-H Award Program honoring adults.

You can help nominate one of your neighbors for these coveted awards by filling out the form below and sending it to your county Extension agent.

The program provides two certificates as awards in each county. Four state winners, selected from all the county winners are presented burnished copper plaques mounted on walnut.

Eight people, four men and four women, chosen from all the state winners, will receive gold keys and all-expense trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, November 25-29.

Men and women who have previously been 4-H Club members, who have an outstanding record of participation and leadership in community activities and who are a success in their chosen occupation or profession are eligible for consideration. So, if you know any one in your community who is eligible for this award fill out the blank and send it to your County Extension Office. They have official nomination forms.

Many 4-H Alumni are successful farmers and homemakers.

Others are leaders in business, government or civic affairs. Some may not have been recently active in 4-H Club work, yet because of the basic training received through the 4-H program, they contribute to the advancement of community, state and nation.

Purposes of the awards are (1) to inspire present-day youth to greater accomplishments by providing them with living examples of dependable purposeful citizenship and (2) to encourage former 4-H Club members to support and cooperate in 4-H work.

Fill in information regarding nominees for National 4-H Alumni Recognition Award, attach any supplementary information which may be helpful and submit to the County Extension Office.

More Integrated Schools Reopen Without Incident

(By The Associated Press)

With nearly all its schools opened for the fall term, Maryland has made an almost peaceful start on a second year of limited segregation.

Schools in 20 counties and Baltimore City have re-opened. Howard County schools opened Friday. There 11 Negroes are to be admitted to the first five grades of previously all-white schools. Schools in Harford and Washington counties open next week to complete the roster.

Picketing at Poolesville was the only indication Thursday that Maryland isn't making the transition completely without incident.

However, no disturbances were reported in any of the four counties which opened integrated schools Thursday.

Even in Anne Arundel County, trying integration for the first time, police said everything went off "smoothly."

It is the second year of integration for Allegany, Cecil and Baltimore counties, where schools also reopened Thursday.

In Baltimore County, 53 of the county's 90 schools opened on an integrated basis. In Anne Arundel County 25 Negro pupils were approved for admission to 9 previously all-white schools. They entered only the first three grades which have a total enrollment of 3,000.

Although eight pickets paraded at Poolesville carrying anti-integration signs, Montgomery County officials said 60 more students were in class today than yesterday, for a total of 400 of 600 in class.

The school was the scene of a noisy demonstration last Tuesday. A spokesman for the pickets said the group intends to continue to protest until a hearing is granted

Hagerstown Nurse Charged With Assault

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Sept. 6 (AP)—A 26-year-old nurse was charged with assault today in connection with what the state contends was the forced transportation of a Mennonite farmer to a Pennsylvania medical hospital.

State's Attorney Tom Kaylor said the nurse, Mrs. Alla Judy Harnly of Hagerstown, gave two hypodermic injections to Adin Hege, 50, while seven men held the farmer last Aug. 16.

Hege was asleep within minutes, Kaylor said, and was then taken to a Mennonite hospital near Lebanon, Pa. He was released several days later after authorities began investigating the case. Two Hagerstown physicians examined Hege and said he did not require confinement.

Mrs. Harnly is to be arraigned tomorrow. The seven others have been released in $500 bail each pending action of the Circuit Court in November.

All the accused and Hege are members of the Mennonite sect.

Army Department Lauds Lankford

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—The Department of the Army has praised Rep. Richard E. Lankford (D-Md.) for his efforts in behalf of "noteworthy laws of great value to the building and maintaining of a strong, effective United States Army."

The Maryland lawmaker's office today released the text of a letter from Hugh M. Milton II, assistant secretary of the Army, expressing "sincere gratitude" for "the tremendous effort you have exerted in the passage of this legislation."

Lankford, who represents Maryland's 5th District, is a member of the House Armed Services Committee.

Policeman Erred In Tagging This Truck

BALTIMORE, Sept. 6 (AP)—Motorcycle Patrolman Ellwood Bozman thought it was an ordinary truck and since it had no license plates, he tagged it.

But he had to take back his ticket. The Department of Motor Vehicles ruled the vehicle was "special mobile equipment."

The pickup truck was carrying welding machinery.

Lieut. Arthur Block gave this account.

Patrolman Bozman yesterday stopped the vehicle, operated by John R. Lynch, when he noticed it had no tags. Bozman issued a summons for operating without license plates.

About a half hour later, Lynch appeared at traffic headquarters and claimed the truck didn't require plates, since he was carrying a piece of special equipment.

The Department of Motor Vehicles backed him up.

Police went to the law books and found this:

"Special mobile equipment: every vehicle not designed or used primarily for the transportation of persons or property and incidentally operated or moved over highways, including farm tractors, road construction or maintenance machinery, ditch-digging apparatus, well-boring apparatus and concrete mixers."

The clincher:

"The foregoing enumeration shall be deemed partial and shall not operate to exclude other such vehicles which are within the general terms of this section."

Block said such vehicles should have some kind of identification tags. He said an operator of such

Irregularity Hits Market, Bringing End To Advance

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (AP) — The stock market lapsed into dull irregularity today after rising three sessions in a row.

For the most part, pivotal stocks registered gains or losses within the range of a point or so. But there were exceptions.

The volume of 1,550,000 shares compared with 2,130,000 yesterday and was the smallest in over a week. The start of Jewish holidays was one factor behind the low turnover.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 40 cents to $185.00.

The rail average was dragged down by the 4-point loss of Santa Fe following the wreck of its crack train, the Chief, in New Mexico.

The day's most active stock, Union Oil of California, rose 2½ to 64 on 32,100 shares, still riding ahead on news of its big discovery well in Costa Rica. Second most active was American Telephone, up 1 at 184½, continuing its rise

North Branch Women Form Barricade To Block Road

A group of North Branch women yesterday formed a human barricade across the road through that town in protest to what they termed a "dangerous" condition.

A spokesman for the group, who identified herself as Mrs. George Abbott, said trucks of the Hazelwood Construction Company were endangering the lives of residents of that area by failing to stop before crossing the road with fill dirt for a new bridge the firm is constructing there.

Claiming that complaints had been ignored, Mrs. Abbott said the human barricade was a last resort, particularly since more children would be using the highway with the opening of school yesterday.

Residents of the area have been "up in arms" also about the dusty or muddy condition of the highway caused by the construction work, she continued. A telephone call was placed Wednesday to the County Commissioners, Mrs. Abbott stated, but no satisfaction could be obtained.

The rain forced a stop to the construction work yesterday, resulting in the disbandment of the human barricade. Hazelwood officials said a flagman would be placed at the road crossing in order to prevent accidents, and that water trucks would be used to keep dust at a minimum.

68 Traffic Warrants Issued

Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick fined persons whose last names yesterday complained of "writer's cramp" after signing nearly 70 warrants for local persons who have failed to obey traffic summons.

The list, prepared by Mrs. Vivian Turley, clerk of the Traffic Division of the Police Department, covers violations over a period of approximately six weeks, she stated, adding that the number is construction work yesterday, resulting in the disbandment of the human barricade. Hazelwood officials said a flagman would be placed at the road crossing in order to prevent accidents, and that water trucks would be used to keep dust at a minimum.

Cooperative Group Names Officers And Committees

Officers and committees of the local branch of the Southern States Cooperative were elected at a recent membership meeting at which it was disclosed that membership and tonnage volume are at all-time peaks.

Elected to the local board were Floyd Buser of Oldtown and Granville Shumaker of Keyser. Named to the farm home advisory committee were Mrs. J. E. Blubaugh, this city, and Mrs. Edgar Mathews, Oldtown.

James Twigg was chosen to represent the local board at the annual Southern States stockholders meeting in Lexington, Ky., in November, with Buser named as alternate.

R. W. Ferguson will represent the local group at a district election meeting next month in Winchester, Va. Shumaker was chosen as alternate to the district meeting.

Grayson Solomon, manager of the Cumberland outlet, announced that membership in the cooperative and its affiliates was in excess of 333,700, a record total. Tonnage volume was also at a record peak.

Solomon pointing out that business had resulted in the declaring of a 4.4 per cent patronage refund on patron's purchases.

Eleven members of the cooperative have qualified for the grand prize competition in a contest which will be a feature of the Lexington meeting. They are:

M. E. Cosgrove, R. J. Saville, Mrs. Roey Baker, Mrs. John Coleman and Edward Lundien, all of this city; Frank Wallizer, Flintstone; Mrs. Arch Davis, Frostburg; John Carter, Oldtown; G. W. Carlheim, Lester Clise, both of Bedford, and William Shumaker.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

HONOLULU, Sept. 6 (INS)—This is Henry J. Kaiser speaking from Hawaii, called by Mark Twain the loveliest fleet of islands anchored in any ocean," said the drowsy voice of Henry J. Kaiser. We were listening to a pitch he had recently recorded in behalf of his Hawaiian Village, an 18-acre resort development at what once was the pierced beer can and floating pineapple husk of Waikiki Beach.

We were in the office of this remarkable old boy, who at 74 has brought his hurry-up, forced-draft personality to this drowsy land to the mingled dismay, mystification and amazement of his newest competitors. His recorded voice spun on an acetate record which activated a half hour of slides—color views of his place and the surrounding technicolor wonders. There was soft Hawaiian background music as the tycoon doggedly drooled onward:

"Like nothing ever dreamed of . . . sun-tanned to the touches of soothing trade winds . . . a cooling drink at your nod . . . where tycoons and moving picture stars share these lanais . . . every sun-kissed hour . . . the beach slopes ever so gently . . . tonight you'll be dancing under the stars . . . farewell, for just a little while."

"I tried some guy, a pro, to read that script but all he sounded like was some pro," Kaiser said, leaning back in his chair, pleased with his completed effort. "The guy sounded like a shill. I give it a homey air, or at least that's what my boys tell me." Henry J. smoothed his egg-white slacks and chocolate-striped sports shirt, and slipped his feet out of his white leather loafers and scratched same on the carpet.

"I'm sending prints of this spiel around the mainland, with on-the-cuff trips to salesmen who drum up a certain number of people to come out here. It's the greatest, but I've hardly begun."

Kaiser's thatched-roof motel and colorful bars, nightclubs and shops presently accommodate 300 guests, and the whole shebang has cost him about $4,000,000. This is embarrassing to a man who built thousands of liberty ships during the war, is one of the biggest aluminum, steel and cement men in the world, makes 300 products in 125 plants throughout the world, and over the years has borrowed more than a billion dollars from one bank alone—the Bank of America.

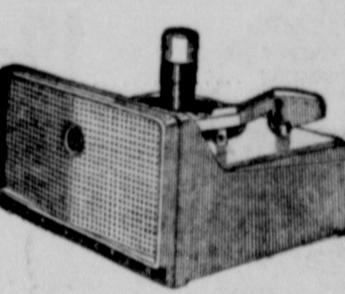

His walls are covered with sketches of his plans for Hawaiian Village: New Fontainbleau type hotels to raise his room count to 3,000, a vast aluminum shell for conventions and an ice show, a color TV station the wants to buy 3,000 color receivers and give them to people around the islands, ten different floor shows working more or less simultaneously (and televised), and a few things like that.

"We'll have forty million in it, soon," he said, looking a great deal like a mollified Aga Khan just about to step on the scales. Henry J. dream don't stop at that. He's still determined, he told us, to build his "Magic Island," until now a mirage off Waikiki. "Having a little trouble with the authorities on that one," he said. "But it'll come around in seven or eight years. It'll cost two hundred million."

Kaiser fell in love with Hawaii several years ago, after a somewhat stormy previous brush with the iron-clad unions of Harry Bridges—who could shut down Paradise with a nod. Henry J. (who prefers to be called Mr. Kaiser) bought a $180,000 house out past Diamond Head and ordered himself a double lotus. But he became restless for something to build or change.

His "boys" are minding the other stores for him, including his car manufacturing plant in Argentina and the one building in Rio. Henry's busy building outrigger canoes and swift, twin-hulled catamarans, wearing shocking pink pants, revising the floor shows, and arguing with city fathers who don't want buildings built higher than the street they face on is wide. He's convinced that the longer life that people are living, and the determination of industry to put able-bodied 65 year olders out to pasture, is creating an enormous yen for travel. "Travel's become a basic industry," the industrialist told us. "What better place can travelers find than this place?"

Television And Radio

by John Crosby

In a recent newspaper article, Gore Vidal wrote the obituary of the novel. It is a short obituary, considering the importance of the subject, but a formidably coherent one. Mr. Vidal is one of the unfortunate ones who is afflicted with a terrible lucidity; he sees things in a brighter light than the rest of us and this is a terrible thing to live with. I also think he is a little crazy — the sort of creative useful craziness which impels him to write things like "Visit to a Small Planet," a witty disturbing TV drama that is about to be a Broadway play.

More ominous, however, than the loss of the higher criticism has been the gradual defection of the public itself," writes Mr. Vidal.

"After some 300 years the novel in English has lost the Gentle Reader (or rather the Gentle Reader has lost the novel) and I propose he will not recover again his old enthusiasm."

"And the fault, if it be a fault, is not the novelist's (I doubt if there have ever been so many interesting and excellent writers as there are now working) but his audience, an unpleasant accusation to make in a democracy where the taste of the majority is finally the measure of all things. Nevertheless, appalling education combined with clever new toys have distracted that large public which found pleasure in prose fictions and, in an odd way, our civilization has now come full circle: from the Greek mysteries and plays to the printing press and the novel to television and plays again. The Fielding, driven out of the trade of Moliere and Aristophanes, took to that of Cervantes; and since then the English novel has been one of the glories of literature while the English drama has been a disgrace."

Is it too much to suggest that

Well, goodbye novel. It was fun while it lasted, Mr. Dickens, Mr. Thackeray, Mr. Tolstoy, and the rest of you. You have been supplanted by the television play. As a matter of fact, there's a good deal to what Mr. Vidal has to say, though I think he's a little sweeping in condemning the novel so arbitrarily to extinction like the auk.

Frankly, it is my belief that the novel form is not dead; it is just asleep like Snow White and will awake when the time comes. I should like to invite Mr. Vidal's attention to a very pregnant utterance by another slightly crazy writer named George Bernard Shaw:

"In 1737," wrote Mr. Shaw, "Henry Fielding, the greatest practicing dramatist with the single exception of Shakespeare produced by England between the Middle Ages and the 19th Century, found his genius to exposing and destroying parliamentary corruption, then at its height. Walpole, unable to govern without corruption, promptly gagged the stage by a censorship which is in full force at the present moment.

Fielding, driven out of the trade of Moliere and Aristophanes, took to that of Cervantes; and since then the English novel has been one of the glories of literature while the English drama has been a disgrace."

Secrets Of Charm

Smooth Conversation

The old saying, "Think twice before you speak," means just that — try to imagine the reactions of others to what you say as well as know your own intention. It takes two directions thinking to leave a pleasant impression of your part of a conversation. If far too often, you wonder, "Why did I say that?" check yourself by the following:

1. When you're hostess and someone becomes a bore by monopolizing the conversation.
2. If you are uniformed on the subject of discussion, you (a) start talking to someone else and ignore him, (b) ask interested questions and try to include others, (c) disagree and start an argument.
3. If the talk is unkind gossip about someone who's absent, you tory about what you're wearing. Of course you know the answers when they're stated as plainly as this. 1. (a) It's up to you as hostess to direct the conversation and save your guests from being bored. 2. (b) You must be a good listener, but don't pretend to know when you don't. An admission of ignorance is respected. 3. (d) Of course! 4. (a) Never return compliment or fail to say thank you.

Paper Workers Resume Talks

MECHANICVILLE, N.Y., Sept. 6 (AP) — The United Mine Workers union today agreed to resume talks with officials at the strike-bound West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. plant here.

N. R. Patterson, the union's regional director, said the union's reply to a company request for reopened negotiations did not mention topics to be discussed.

Previous discussions have been limited to the effective date of a wage increase. But the company earlier today asked that the talks cover the company's entire contract offer. The request was made by George N. Hoover Jr., mill manager.

Negotiations between the company and UMW Local 12,915 broke off Aug. 24, after the union's negotiating committee rejected a company offer of a two-year contract calling for wage increases ranging from 21 to 38 cents an hour.

County Democrats To Hold Ox Roast On September 16

The opening guns of the 1956 ox roast on that day at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club picnic grounds.

George P. Mahoney, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, will head the statewide vote seekers who will attend.

John R. Foley, the party's candidate for Congress from this district, will be on the program.

C. Ferdinand Sybert, attorney general of Maryland, and J. Millard Tawes, comptroller general, will be among the state office holders present.

The Democratic organization in this county has laid plans for an intensive campaign for its party's candidates, a party spokesman said.

This county's voters cut the majority of Governor McKeldin from 14,000 in 1950 to 1,100 in 1954. In addition, Edward J. Ryan won a smashing victory over DeWitt S. Hyde in Allegany County, which has a 5,500 Republican majority. Ryan, however, lost the four other counties of the district in losing a close race.

The ox roast is in charge of Thomas Barton, president of the Young Democrats; Anne B. Everline, William B. Orndorff, and Harry Kauffman, all of the Young Democrats, and Thomas B. Finan, chairman of the central committee, and members of the committee.

Shriners Of Eight States Meeting At Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Sept. 6 (AP) — Here a fez, there a fez, everywhere a fez.

That was Baltimore today, with 12,000 Shriners from eight states and neighboring Washington converging on the city like ants toward home.

Positive proof that the city was enshrined again came with the dawn and the arrival of a multi-colored converted streetcar parked in front of a downtown hotel. More gaudily decorated vehicles arrived through the day.

Today's activities were confined to registration, with an open house tonight for potentates and past potentates of the various temples represented at this annual four-day Mid-Atlantic Shriners convention.

Starting tomorrow, the program is crowded with parades, exhibitions and speeches. It concludes Sunday.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

Rites Tomorrow For Man Killed On Gas Job

A funeral service for Thomas Lawrence Lewis, 52, of Salt Lick near Terra Alta, W. Va., who was killed instantly Wednesday night when he was caught in a drum that was pulling a cable and bailed from a natural gas well in a drilling operation near Accident, will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. at the Fike-Watson Funeral Home in Terra Alta.

Rev. W. C. Dunson, pastor of the Evangelical United Brethren Church of Terra Alta, will officiate and burial will be in the cemetery there.

The victim was the father of four sons and two daughters.

Sheriff Paul Fisher, Oakland, said yesterday the accident happened on the rig operated by John Roberts, also of Terra Alta, on the farm of Altson Hanlin, two miles west of Accident.

Standing On Deck

He said Lewis, a helper, was standing on the deck containing a cable drum, technically called a sand drum, which was about a story off the ground.

The drum was reeling a bailer from the well to take off water that had accumulated in the hole, when Lewis fell or was caught by the cable, was whipped under it and was tossed to the ground.

Sheriff Fisher said only Roberts and Lewis were working at the time, about 8:30 p. m.

Roberts, the operator, could not see Lewis from where he was working, but stopped the motor when he felt the cable jerk, the sheriff said.

Lewis Decapitated

Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, deputy state medical examiner for Garrett County, said Lewis was practically decapitated. In addition, his chest was crushed and his left arm was torn off.

Sheriff Fisher said Roberts was using a drilling rig leased from the firm of Snee and Eberly of Uniontown.

Lewis, a native of Terra Alta, was a son of Jacob W. and Mary E. Lewis, of that community, and was born October 8, 1903.

He was a member of the EUB Church in Terra Alta. Surviving besides his parents, are his wife, Mrs. Mary Lee (Willison) Lewis, four sons, Charles J. Lewis, Thomas L. Lewis, Ralph E. Lewis, and Jerry W. Lewis; two daughters, Linda Marie Lewis, and Rebecca Dale, who is six months old.

It's Reasonably Safe To Enjoy Your Food

There are individuals in mental hospitals who are afraid of food. Either they think that some "enemy" has poisoned it, or they have a phobia about germs and pollution. It may be necessary to feed such persons intravenously while psychotherapy tries to cure the obsession.

It is to be hoped that no such unfortunate gets hold of an account of some of the papers read at the International Union Against Cancer, which has been meeting in Rome. Additives and contaminants which are frequently present in the American diet, the papers said, may cause or trigger cancer.

The 42 cancer experts from 21 countries agreed unanimously that something ought to be done to protect mankind from such additives until tests had proved them definitely harmless.

Food preservatives, which may prevent contamination by germs, actually make food safer to eat. But some of them are suspects, including thiourea, thioacetamide, sulphurous acid, ethyl and butyl esters, and formic acid.

Food dyes, 29 of them, were listed as potentially dangerous, and 23 more were said to need more testing before it was certain that they would pass. Radiation to preserve foods was cited as a possible danger.

In addition to preservatives and dyes, thickeners, synthetic flavors, bleachers, fat substitutes and many others were described as requiring more adequate testing.

Among possibly dangerous contaminants of foods were listed antibiotics and estrogens given to livestock, residues of pesticides and insecticides, sterilizers, anti-sprouting agents, and so on.

In addition to scientists, the U. S. government is alert to such dangers. A few days ago the U. S. Court of Appeals upheld a two-year-old Food and Drug Administration order prohibiting the use of three coal-tar dyes in foods. As long as the Food and Drug Act remains in force—perhaps with some tightening from time to time as changing circumstances require—it is reasonably safe for Americans to enjoy their food.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

In Quest Of Seriousness

A political campaign in a free society is the method by which the people are supposed to express their opinion of officials in office and leads up to the selection of an administration of the people's choice. It ought to be a very serious undertaking. For the right of the people to go through this process, great quantities of human blood were shed in many lands.

Naturally people with a sense of humor will find some things that occur during such a campaign funny and it is often true that the politicians will create incidents or use phrases that are amusing, but it would be unfortunate if the election campaign were turned into a circus and if the American people were regarded as morons who need to be made to laugh because they do not dare to think.

The Republican press agent who thought up the stunt of minimizing the name of the Democratic party into the ungrammatical Democrat party was not very smart. When Joe McCarthy first used the phrase, it was one of those McCarthysisms which evoke a smile and should then be forgotten. But when a political party is led to believe that it can down-grade its opponent by removing an adjectival suffix from its name, it reduces itself to childishness and should not be encouraged even by those who favor its nominees and its platform. Any press agent's counsel should be screened with the finest sieve because it is characteristic of this trade that they leap at an idea as a white-faced hornet alights on a blackberry.

The term Democratic is old in American political history. In fact, the Democratic party was once called the Democratic-Republican party. It has, in its day, opposed the Federalist, the Whig and the Republican parties and has survived numerous defeats and great changes in its purpose. Party consistency is not a characteristic of American politics. The Democratic party, for instance, was the states rights party during the War Between the States, but during the Roosevelt administration it favored a centralization of government closer to the Federalist ideas of Alexander Hamilton than to the Democratic ideas of Thomas Jefferson or Andrew Jackson. But the same can be said of the Republican party which started at Ripon, Wis., as the most radical group ever to be brought together in American politics and became the party of conservatism.

Surely, the Republican party can hope to defeat Adlai Stevenson without resorting to such improprieties as the phrase Democrat party which is not only bad taste but in correct English if that matters to a press agent. And it is very doubtful if it will make one single additional vote for Eisenhower and Nixon. They will get votes on the record and by the presentation of issues convincingly, not by small undignified tricks.

In each election campaign in recent years, committees appear that want the voters to go out and register; and there are other committees that favor a clean election by which they mean that the candidates should not call each other foul names or even tell the truth about each other. Perhaps the American press can cooperate in getting the campaign back to a discussion of the problems of the country and out of the hands of press agents, Hollywood stage managers, professional singers and hula-hula dancers. These consumed an immense amount of time at both conventions to no purpose. The idea of a Hollywood director telling serious-minded men how to speak as though they were starlets brings into contempt the process of free discussion and free choice which is what the election is about.

It is possible that Caesar had a ghost-writer and that Moses hired an Egyptian to write the Ten Commandments, but it would be refreshing to have a candidate for high office in this country rise and speak his own words, unpolished by professional speech-writers, intellectually unwarred by committees that pass on such documents. I once sat on such a committee for a day or so and came no more because never had I experienced such baby-talk among adults. It would be even more wonderful if a candidate for high office were to speak extemporaneously, to say what he believes to be true, without first consulting counselors and advisers, lawyers, press agents and the smart men who know how to sell soap and automobiles.

But then this would be Utopia!

Will It Hold Through November?

Truman, Reviving Communist Issue, Pleases GOP

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Former President Truman seems determined to revive the Communist issue of the 1952 campaign—and the Republicans are not a bit displeased. They couldn't tactfully have taken the initiative themselves.

Mr. Truman not only says he doesn't think Alger Hiss was a Communist but doubts whether Hiss was a Communist spy.

The FBI is on record as having told Mr. Truman that Hiss was a member of a Communist ring.

Like witnesses have come forth to swear they saw Hiss paying dues in a Communist cell formed at the Department of Agriculture during the Democratic regime.

Ike Called It "Treason"

Mr. Truman, moreover, accuses Vice President Nixon of having charged the former President with "treason." But the speech delivered by Mr. Nixon on October 27, 1952, to which Mr. Truman pointed, does not use the word "treason."

What the former President chooses to ignore is that General Eisenhower in a 1952 speech did use the word "treason" three times in referring to what was happening under the Truman administration.

For some unaccountable reason, Mr. Truman doesn't seem to be willing to take on President Eisenhower on this issue and prefers to attack only his running mate.

Mr. Eisenhower at Milwaukee on October 3, 1942, discussed Communist treason inside our government. He said:

"What did this penetration into government mean? It meant contamination in some degree of virtually every department, every agency, every bureau, every section of our government. It meant a government by men whose very brains were confused by the operate of this deceit. These men were advisers in a foreign policy . . . This penetration meant a domestic policy whose tone was set by men who sneered and scoffed at warnings of the enemy infiltrating our most secret counsels. It meant—it's most ugly triumph—treason itself . . .

"Who are those men? They are those who cheered the blithe dismissal of the Alger Hiss case as 'red herring.'"

Referred To Stevenson

Then Mr. Eisenhower went on to refer to one of Mr. Stevenson's speeches in which the candidate had said that Communists in our national life were "not very important." In a reference to Mr. Stevenson's humorous quips about the Communist issue as a "kind of silly game being played in the Bureau of Wildlife and Fisheries," General Eisenhower added:

"Do you think these fish stories, ghost stories, and animal stories are really very amusing? Such comedy touches do little to relieve the tragic knowledge that we have been for years the guilty victims of Communist espionage experts.

These experts in treason have plundered us of secrets involving our highest diplomatic decisions, our atomic research. Tragically, we do not know how much more our security may have been jeopardized."

Small wonder that just 24 days after that speech by the presidential candidate on the Republican ticket, Mr. Nixon, the vice-presidential nominee, is reported to have said at Texarkana, Ark.:

"The Truman-Acheson, Stevenson Democrats have forfeited their rights to the support of the millions of good rank and file members of the Democratic party. They, Truman, Acheson and Stevenson, are traitors to the high principles in which many of the nation's Democrats believe. Real Democrats are outraged by the Truman-Acheson-Stevenson gang's toleration of and defense of communism in high places."

Hassn Explained White

Comparing the two utterances and assuming the correctness of the quotation attributed to Mr. Nixon, it is apparent that neither one accused the Democratic party itself of being a party of treason. Both said, in effect, that the Truman administration had condoned treason in high places. This was particularly emphasized when Attorney General Brownell in October 1954 revealed that the FBI had warned Mr. Truman about Harry Dexter White's activities, and that the former President later on wrote two letters of commendation to White in total disregard of the FBI's damaging information. Mr. Truman has never said a single word publicly to explain why he wrote those two letters.

Even though all the newspapers reported it at the time, Mr. Truman now says he never told a White House press conference that the congressional hearing on the Hiss case was a "red herring."

But he adds: "That is exactly what it was."

The issue of "softness on communism" will again be debated in a political campaign.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Once again no candidate has dared to comment on ladies drinking at bars. Not that I object to it provided they pull in their elbows.

I have been waiting since 1912 for some candidate to put away straps within reach of the working man.

We know Grover Cleveland won the second time because he swore he would put a clerk behind every window in the post office. Later on Jim Farley made 'em all marble without the windows.

Can a bay in a super-market wire basket keep all it grabs? This is a new form of shop-lifting of marbles, toothpicks and rutabagas.

Neither candidate has cracked about parking space in the same city in which you work. We know an independent voter who lives in the Bronx, parks in Brooklyn and works in Manhattan. He's looking for a generous traffic cop who will split the ticket.

Did you know that Woodrow Wilson promised to keep us out of war? And to stop janitors imitating steam by rapping on the pipes with brass knuckles?

There are many vital issues for 1956 that never saw the light of day. Herbert Hoover promised revolution doors for lefthanded people. He lost a million votes by not making good.

Another gimmick to remember is all the plums are not on slot machines. The candidate will silo a lot of votes if he makes me an indoor bird watcher on Japanese tapestries. Or awning inspector for the Third Congressional District.

Nuclear Medicine Serving More And More Uses

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

physicians because results were inconsistent.

Radioactive iodine concentrates in the thyroid, where it gives off beta and gamma rays that reduce the function of the gland. The radioactive material is soluble in water and so little is required that it does not change the color or taste of the liquid. This is one of the many uses for the isotope.

Nuclear medicine is going to town but no one can predict how far it will go. Radium is one remedy for angina pectoris. In this condition the heart muscle receives too little blood during exercise and emotional upheavals. By lowering metabolism the need for blood is lessened and some victims improve. But the plan never was accepted universally by lack of trained personnel and training opportunities.

Isotopes are used in the diagnosis and treatment of several diseases. Radioactive iodine I 131 is a natural tracer element because it gives off rays that can be studied through surface measurements. Radioactive phosphorus (P 32) prefers bone and marrow, the liver, spleen, lymph nodes, and the nuclei of actively multiplying cells. It is useful in the diagnosis of bone disorders and in treating polycythemia vera, chronic leukemia, and Hodgkin's disease.

Radioactive gold (Au 198) alleviates symptoms of cancer that has spread to the abdominal and chest cavities. The isotope also shows promise in cancer of the cervix of the uterus. Cobalt 60 is being introduced into bombs capable of producing the equivalent of three million volts of X-ray; deep seated malignant tumors are treated with this agent. Cesium 137 is used in this kind of cancer also but is not as strong.

Reds Deny Refugee Berlin Mayor's Son

BERLIN, Sept. 6 (AP) — The Communists said tonight that the Kurt Ebert who fled to West Berlin is not the son of East Berlin's mayor Friedrich Ebert.

U.S. Army authorities said today the 36-year-old refugee had identified himself as the mayor's son, and said he had been released recently from an East German jail where he had been serving a 25-year sentence for spying.

How To Pack Sandwiches For School

When the pig-tailed and crew-cut set answer the school bell's toll right after Labor Day, chances are many mothers' thoughts turn once again to that rush job of sandwich packing for lunch boxes. Providing variety and nutrition in children's away-from-home lunches is important. Yet to perk with ideas at 6:15 a.m., when preparing breakfast and inspecting school attire is uppermost in one's mind, is not always easy.

Fortunately with the advent of the freezer, most women have learned that early morning sandwich making is one job they can cross off the list. It is easier to get variety into the lunchbox when you prepare a batch of sandwiches assembly line fashion at one time, say at mid-afternoon. Then wrap well in freezer paper, identifying sandwiches, and store in the freezer. Such sandwiches will hold up well at zero degrees for two weeks, according to freezing experts.

Best sandwich fillings for the freezer are processed cheeses, meats, canned fish, and peanut butter, although salad dressings and crisp greens, such as lettuce, do not hold up well during freezing; this problem is easily rectified. Simply tuck into the lunchbox a tiny paper cup of mayonnaise and a plastic sack of lettuce leaves, so that the children can add them at noon.

Don't fret over the fact that because dressing is omitted from the sandwiches, that you will have a plain-jane finger food. Butter is an excellent flavor and it can be made just that much better with a few judicious seasonings added to it. Some of the better known food companies have experimented and come up with excellent suggestions.

Here are some of the flavored butters suggested: To ½ cup softened butter add one of the following:

1. 2 tablespoons chutney or chili sauce.
2. ½ teaspoon curry powder.
3. 1 teaspoon soy sauce or dry mustard.
4. ¼ cup finely minced watercress.

One basic rule no sandwich packer overlooks is to be generous with the butter. Use softened butter and spread it from corner to corner of each slice of bread, so that there will be no danger of the filling soaking into the bread.

Wealth, Infertility Linked By Zoologist

SHEFFIELD, England, Sept. 6 (AP)—A zoologist today attributed the extinction of many British noble families to a link between wealth and infertility.

Dr. C. B. Goodhart told the British Assn. for the Advancement of science:

"It has been shown that in the British peerage wealth in women was correlated with infertility. An heiress by definition comes of an infertile family, for otherwise there would be many to share her wealth. Many noble families have become extinct through the love of heiresses whose riches were matched by their infertility."

Dr. Goodhart, assistant curator of the Cambridge University Museum of Zoology, was discussing world population.

The Navy previously announced that the Quincy, Mass., yard of Bethlehem Steel Co. will build the cruiser.

Cranberry Sauce In A Pinch

Almost every meal planner, at one time or other, has experienced an awful moment with the realization that an otherwise carefully planned menu was lacking one bright touch. Keep cranberry sauce on hand for those emergencies!

Space on the pantry shelf is well taken by several cans of cranberry sauce. The cheery color and slightly flavor find ready use in many ways, all the year through, not only as a fine accompaniment to poultry and meat dishes, but for the makings of lovely salads and desserts as well.

Supplies of canned cranberry sauce are abundant right now—a good time to stock up. Last season's pack was the second largest on record—some 6 million cases. And canned cranberry sauce is on the U.S. Department of Agriculture's list of plentiful foods for July.

CRANBERRY CUPLETS, so easy to make, are as pretty to look at as they are good to eat. Serve them with most any chicken dish.

To make the cuplets, just remove the crusts from thin slices of white bread. Spread one side with softened butter. Press buttered side down into muffin tins, making little cups of the bread. Bake at 375° F. until bread cups are toasted. Just before serving fill with cranberry sauce or cranberry relish.

For a special treat at the next backyard barbecue, serve SPICED CRANBERRY SAUCE with the chicken:

For 10 servings, use 3 one-pound cans of whole cranberry sauce:

1½ cups raisins; 1½ large, unpeeled oranges; 2½ teaspoons powdered ginger.

Boston Symphony Throws Dignity To Winds In USSR

LENINGRAD, Sept. 6 (AP)—The Boston Symphony Orchestra arrived yesterday for the first concert tour of the Soviet Union ever made by a major Western musical organization, and threw long-hair dignity to the winds.

A few hours after arriving by plane from Helsinki, Finland, conductor Charles Munch and a group of orchestra members went to the Viborg House of Culture where they watched the Gypsy Theater give a performance of "Plyasuny"—which means "Dancing Girls."

Another group from the orchestra took over the bandstand in the roof garden of the Hotel Europa to stage a jam session.

They were Harold Farberman, vibraphone; Charles Smith, drums; and Henry Fornoi, bass viol. They beat out choruses after choruses of "Where or When" and had the Russian customers rocking the dance floor.

Associate conductor Pierre Monteux went quietly to bed after he finally arrived. There had been a technical hitch in Monteux's visa, so he was the last of the company to get here.

The first concert here was delayed 24 hours because 16,000 pounds of equipment, including instruments, shipped by train did not arrive in time. The orchestra has decided to play no Russian music while here "because we didn't want to look as though we were trying to come in here and teach them their business."

The two concerts scheduled for Leningrad, have been sold out for many weeks.

Baltimore Police Dept. Expansion Proposed

BALTIMORE, Sept. 6 (AP)—A police expert who made a survey of Baltimore's weighty crime problem today recommended a large scale expansion of the department and redistribution of its forces.

Col. Earle W. Garrett, policing expert from Florida, recommended a 500-man expansion over a five year period, and suggested three immediate measures to improve matters:

- Transfer foot patrolmen from districts where the crime rate is low to high-rate districts.

- Change the shift system during the period of the day when crime activity is at its height—7 p.m. to 3 a.m.

- Pay overtime to patrolmen who volunteer to work for part of their off hours.

Baltimore has about 2200 persons—all but a handful of them men—in its police force.

Approximately seven per cent of the men applying for life insurance are rejected.

DES Building Group Named

ANNAPOLIS, Sept. 6 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin yesterday named a 7-man committee to plan construction of a Department of Employment Security building in Baltimore.

The committee will coordinate planning with federal, state and city officials and the Baltimore Redevelopment Commission.

The proposed building would be constructed in redevelopment area 12 near the site proposed for a new State Office Building.

It would house all agencies of the DES, including the Employment Security Board, the Advisory Council, the Unemployment Compensation Division and the Employment Service Division.

The DES now has headquarters at 6 N. Liberty St., Baltimore, while its various agencies are located in other rented office buildings scattered throughout the city.

The department also has 17 field offices throughout the state, but these would not be affected by construction of the new building.

Joseph P. Healy, associate member of the ESB, was named chairman of the committee. Other members are Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert; James J. O'Donnell, director of the Department of Public Improvements; John R. Montgomery, chairman of the Advisory Council to the ESB; Oliver Winston, coordinator of urban development for the Baltimore Redevelopment Commission; George R. Carter, director of the Baltimore Department of Public Works, and Russell H. McCain, executive assistant to the governor.

BRIGHTON, England, Sept. 6 (AP)—Britain's powerful Trades Union Congress defied the government yesterday and voted to press for higher wages. The vote was a setback to government hopes of keeping wages and prices steady.

The decision was the TUC's answer to Chancellor of the Exchequer Harold Macmillan's recent pleas to industry and workers to hold the price line against inflation.

Macmillan warned that the nation lives "very near the margin of safety" and might price itself out of its vital export markets.

Frank Cousins, a rising trade union leader, led the fight against a wage-freezing policy.

"We are not prepared to sit down and see our members' conditions worsened," he declared.

Cousins, secretary general of Britain's largest trade union, the Transport and General Workers Union, said the decision did not mean unions were "going out on a rampage."

Given the green light by today's special meeting, the company will go ahead with plans to offer stockholders of record Sept. 14 rights to buy AT&T stock at $100 per share on a basis of one share for every 10 presently held. Local Resident Receives Doctor's Degree At Pitt

Wayne W. Hill, 517 Louisiana Avenue, who is principal at Beall High School in Frostburg, is the second person currently employed in the Allegany County public school system to receive a Ph.D. Hill received his doctorate at the University of Pittsburgh last Wednesday. Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal of Allegany High School, is the other holder of a Ph.D. in the school system.

Dr. Hill's major field was educational administration and his dissertation was "Factors Contributing to the Problem of Teachers in the Secondary Schools of Maryland Leaving the Profession from 1950 to 1955."

In his dissertation Dr. Hill said personal and professional reasons for leaving teaching profession outnumber economic ones by more than 25 to one. He also said few teachers left the profession for a single reason. Most of those who left would like to return and would do so if certain reasonable adjustments were made.

WAYNE W. HILL

Dr. Hill, a native of Johnstown, is 39. He served several years in the Navy during World War II and was recalled during the Korean conflict. He spent two years as a Veteran Administration senior contract representative in the Bedford, Altoona and Pittsburgh areas. He also at one time worked for the Bethlehem Steel Company. He was vice principal at Fort Hill High School from 1951 to 1952 and since 1953 has been principal at Beall.

During the Korean war he served as production officer administering Navy contracts and was liaison officer for the Department of Defense with industries of Western Pennsylvania. During this period he expedited all the steel armor plate for the USS Forrestal and USS Saratoga, new super carriers, and assured flow of materials for manufacture of atomic reactor for USS Nautilus, built by Westinghouse.

He is commanding officer of Naval Reserve CBD 5-7 in Cumberland.

Dr. Hill said personal and professional reasons for leaving teaching profession outnumber economic ones by more than 25 to one. He also said few teachers left the profession for a single reason. Most of those who left would like to return and would do so if certain reasonable adjustments were made.

Henry W. Miller Receives W. Va. Farm Award

State Bureau Honors Area Orchardist

PAW PAW—Henry W. Miller Jr. vice president and general manager of Consolidated Orchard Company operations at Paw Paw, was presented the West Virginia Distinguished Service award by the West Virginia Farm Bureau at its annual meeting at Jackson's Mill.

It was the fourth successive year in which the bureau has given such recognition to an individual.

Miller has been conspicuous in fruit and agricultural circles in the state for many years or even since succeeding to principal directing responsibility for the orchard company.

He has served as president of the West Virginia Horticulture Society; has been a director of Appalachian Apples Service; a director of the Middle Atlantic Fruit Growers; a member of the advisory committee to help administer the Federal Surplus Commodity operations; served as "Apple King" at the annual festival held here in 1940; served as chairman of the six-man Grower-Surplus Marketing Administration Price Committee; has been a member and president of the Morgan County Board of Education, and was named head of a newly-organized West Virginia Congress of Agriculture in 1949—a combination of 25 farm organizations and federal and state agencies to coordinate all farm plans.

Miller has also been active in Republican political circles in the state.

He has served on a number of nationwide fruit-grower organizations, including present membership on the board of International Apple Association, and with the federal committee to advise on fruit problems and marketing programs.

Miller is a son of Harry W. Miller, Paw Paw, who was one of the pioneer fruit growers—with his brothers and following in the steps of their late father, W. S. Miller, in the whole development of fruit-growing in this eastern West Virginia. He resides just outside Paw Paw with offices here.

Bedford And LaSalle Open Football Season Here Tonight

Bisons Battle Explorers In Sixth Contest

Circleville, Vikings Hosts In PVC Tilts; Jackets At Greenbank

High school football, whose birth in this area dates back to the early 1900s, makes its 1956 debut in Cumberland tonight.

Bedford High School's Bisons and LaSalle's Explorers will provide the action at 8 o'clock in the local stadium.

The Bison's, coached by Harold Wilkinson, will be meeting Coach Norman F. Geatz's Explorers for the sixth time since the schools opened relations on the gridiron in 1945 in a post-season tilt that saw Bruce Fisher's Pennsylvanians win here by the score of 33-0 and wind up the season with a 10-0 record. In the five games played to date Bedford has won thrice, LaSalle once and the 1955 battle ended in a 13-13 deadlock.

Played 1931 Charity Game

Oh yes, once before LaSalle and Bedford players met in a football game but that was a charity affair staged here during the depression days of 1931. LaSalle and Allegany gridders met the Bisons at Mid City Park in a post-season affair that did not count on the school records.

LaSalle is the only Maryland school on the schedule of the Bedford countians who play nine Keystone State elevens this season. The Explorers' schedule includes opponents from West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Tonight's game is the only attraction here this weekend due to a mixup in dates resulting in Saturday's game between Northwestern and Fort Hill being wiped out. Coach Geatz has a squad of 36 players, 21 of whom were on the Blue and Gold roster last season when the Explorers won three, lost six and played one tie game. Bedford turned in a 6-2 record in 1955.

LaSalle's Lineup

LaSalle's probable starting lineup for the lid-lifter is as follows:

Ends — Arnold McGreevy (46) and Ed Firle (61).

Tackles — Frank Carney (58) and Charles Innes (57).

Guards — William Twigg (62) and Kenneth Harris (98).

Center — Thomas Joyce (69).

Quarterback — Joe Cioni (45).

Right Halfback — Joe Weissenmiller (54) or Van Parsons (55).

Fullback — Joseph Niland (96) or William Becker (51).

Officials for the game will be John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, Jim Gaffney, John Shelton and Bob Pence.

Berkeley In PVC Debut

Five other games are on tap for area high schools today.

Berkeley Springs, coached by Jerry Calhoun, makes its initial start in the Potomac Valley Conference grid circuit by playing

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:*A X Y D L B A A X R*I S L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Goren On Bridge

(Copyright 1956: The Chicago Tribune) first concede the losing trick to Neither vulnerable. North deals

NORTH▲ AK 72*♥ A 6*♦ 10 6 5*♣ AK Q 4*WEST*▲ 4*♥ 8 3*♦ KQ J 8 2*♣ 9*J 7 2*10 8 5 3*SOUTH*▲ Q J 10 9 6 5*♥ 9*♦ A 7 4 3*♣ 9 6

The bidding:
 NORTH: 1 club, 1 heart, 1 spade, 2 hearts
 1 spades Pass, 5 diamonds, 5 clubs, 2 hearts
 6 spades Pass, Pass, Pass
 OPENING lead: King of diamonds. If after a casual inspection of the above hand you failed to hit upon the winning play of this deal do not be discouraged. It eluded seven out of eight declarers who faced it in a Masters Individual championship. The contract of six spades was reached at all tables. When one examines the combined holdings of North and South it becomes apparent that it is not a very good slam to be in. But this is very difficult to foresee in the bidding. There is considerable duplication. North's queen of clubs is wasted and it will be seen that he has the wrong doubleton. Had he three hearts and two diamonds there would have been no problem at all.

The prospect was dismal when the king of diamonds was opened. Declarer could see 11 tricks and apparently the only hope was a squeeze for the 12th. That could come off if the hand with the diamonds also held four clubs so that at the end he could not protect both. But in order to effect a squeeze it would be necessary to degrift, board members.

Request For Beer License Is Denied

The application of John DeVore for a Class D beer license for premises on Route 135, about two miles from Westernport, has been rejected by the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverages License Commissioners.

In a brief opinion rejecting the application, the board stated that the premises are not in any incorporated town and it appears that there are not 500 bona fide residents within a radius of one mile of the establishment.

The opinion was signed by Walter C. Capper, chairman, Stanley O. Hamilton and Howard W. Vandegrift, board members.

Glass Production To Begin Saturday

Plant Construction Will Continue

Production of rough plate glass is expected to get under way Saturday at Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's $34,000,000 plant at North Branch, Robert M. Hainsfurther, plant manager, said yesterday.

A few unexpected problems are still to be worked out before the actual production of the glass can be started, but barring further delay the first glass is expected to roll out of the plant's production units sometime Saturday.

Hainsfurther explained that the culmination of over two years of negotiation, planning and construction is now a reality, although it is expected to take at least another year for the entire plant to be completed.

The plant manager said the rough glass which will be made at first will not be used, but will be thrown away. It takes about two days of production for the quality of the glass to become clear enough for shipment to customers. Hainsfurther said that as soon as the quality of the glass improves enough the plant will begin immediate production for shipment.

First Shipment Soon

The first Western Maryland Railway cars for the shipment of glass from the North Branch plant are expected at any time and will be placed on sidings at the site for the initial shipment of the rough glass.

The grinding and polishing building has not been completed, so this phase of production will be handled at other Pittsburgh Plate plants.

The beginning of glass production at the local plant means that the target date—set over a year ago when the contract was awarded for the construction work—has nearly been met, despite a summer of bad weather.

Harry B. Higgins, then president of Pittsburgh Plate Glass, announced the awarding of the contract for the construction to Consolidated Engineering Company, Inc., of Baltimore in July of 1955. At that time the date for completion of the first phase of the twin-grinding production plant was set for the end of July of this year.

Basic Plant Completed

This portion of the construction work included construction of batch or raw materials facilities, storage silos, a mix house, glass melting tank building, an annealing lehr building, a cooling conveyor building, building for the storage of rough glass and materials, the main substation for electric power and utilities, the boiler house, main office building, a grinder and a sand grading building.

The second phase of construction will see the erection of a polisher building, a ware room, factory offices and additional main office buildings.

Ground was broken for the huge plant two years ago this month, and the drying fires lighted in the flues to carry air and gas into the huge furnaces in July. The gas furnace was then lighted to dry out the bricks in the flues and furnace so raw materials could be placed in the melting tank and production started.

The raw materials for glass making are stored in silos and fed mechanically into the melting tank. These are limestone, silica sand, dolomite, soda ash and "cullet."

Tank Being Prepared

The big melting tank has been slowly brought to a heat where it will melt the basic ingredients of glass—sand, cobalt and soda ash.

The big furnace is being heated by natural gas, supplied by the C&A Gas Company. Last month the plant received its permanent power supply when the Potomac Edison Company cut its three power lines into the substation at the plant.

The plant here will produce a rough glass and will ship to other plants for polishing. The production method that will make this glass the most modern in the world will be the grinding and polishing system.

In other plants, the procedure is to grind one side of the glass and then turn it over to finish the other side. The North Branch plant, when it is fully completed and maximum production is being maintained with approximately 2,500 employees next year, will handle both sides of the plate glass at one time.

Mrs. Tydings, who unsuccessfully opposed Mahoney for the nomination at a special State Central Committee meeting after her husband's withdrawal, said Tydings hoped to be active in the Mahoney campaign, at least in time to make a speech or two on his behalf.

Bolt And Forge Shop Begins Recalling Men

Follows Return Of Car Repair Units

Fifty-five men are being recalled to the Bolt and Forge Shop of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company here.

The recall was announced by W. Nelson Kaylor, superintendent, who said the first of the men reported for work yesterday.

They had been off since early in July, when the B & O and other railroads began furloughing workers as steel furnaces were banked.

Another 90 workers on the B & O's Cumberland Division were recalled Tuesday.

They comprised workers in car units in the Keyser car shops. When the steel strike began, about 550 men were working at the Bolt and Forge Shop and the B & O Rolling Mill here.

Employment was at the highest point in the shop's history and it was about 50 higher than average.

The current recall will boost the Bolt and Forge staff to about 315. The Rolling Mill was not affected by the strike.

Orders for parts manufactured by the local plant have been piling up in recent weeks as car units returned to work.

Garrett County Booster Group Elects Directors

The Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, Inc., elected a 12-man board of directors at its first meeting since the council was incorporated earlier this year. The meeting was held at the fire hall in Oakland Tuesdays.

Named to one-year terms as holdovers from the promotion association before its incorporation were Helmuth Heise, outgoing president, Aubrey Brenneman, Irvin Feld, Irvin R. Rudy Jr., and Asa Stanton.

Elected to two-year terms to the board of directors are Merle Clegg, Howard Maylor, Clinton Englander, David Marple, "Skeeter" Bowmen, William Ritter and Floyd Leighton.

Heise, chairman of the group, presided at the conference. He said the board of directors will meet soon to elect officers for the year.

Approximately 35 persons attended the meeting of the group, which was formed to promote recreational facilities of Garrett and Deep Creek Lake.

In other routine business matters the council adopted its by-laws and planned projects for the coming year, including extension of summer activities and building of winter sports throughout the county.

The attending members heard a brief talk on recreation and sports activities from Earle R. Pforbaugh, director of the State Department of Information. Sigurd Brantigan, regional fish culturist for Maryland, gave a report on fishing conditions on Deep Creek Lake.

Play equipment is being taken from most of the school playgrounds used this summer by the City Recreation Department, according to Mrs. Eva Hogan.

She said principals of most of the schools asked that the equipment be removed and that maintenance workers have been moving it to the city warehouse.

Officials at Virginia Avenue and Penn Avenue schools asked that the equipment be left for the use of the children, and West Side and Mt. Royal schools are slated to decide soon on the disposition of swings, see-saws and sliding boards.

The speaker's talk will reveal the latest discoveries of evolution of social behavior in bees and the reasons for some of the most mystifying habits of these insects.

Play Equipment Is Being Stored

Play equipment is being taken from most of the school playgrounds used this summer by the City Recreation Department, according to Mrs. Eva Hogan.

She said principals of most of the schools asked that the equipment be removed and that maintenance workers have been moving it to the city warehouse.

It was also urged that school teachers should receive further consideration in salary increases.

Local 26 To Meet

A membership meeting of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union, will be held Saturday at 7:30 p. m. in the union hall, according to James Stein, president.

In college, music and art most interested her. She performed with the Madrigal Singers and the Maryland Singers, belonged to Delta Kappa, national art fraternity, and had the female lead in two college operettas, "The Mikado" and "Down in the Valley." She also was a member of Future Teachers of America.

With that music and art ability, Miss Dixon believes she will be able to keep her first graders interested in learning during dull moments.

Garden Club To Hear Two Lectures

Mrs. Wendell Allen To Address Group

The Garden Club of Cumberland will have a nationally known horticulturist, instructor and judge of flower shows as the principal speaker at afternoon and evening meetings which will be open to the public on Monday.

The first of the two lectures by Mrs. Wendell Allen of Baltimore, will be given at 2 p. m. at the parish hall of SS. Peter and Paul Church on Fayette Street. Her topic will be "Spring Flower Bulbs," and she will place special emphasis on daffodils and their types and classifications.

The nationally credited flower show instructor and judge, who also is a member of the American Landscape Association, will address the public again at 8:30 p. m. at the parish hall when she will discuss "Home Landscaping and Maintenance of Home Grounds."

Mrs. Allen is an instructor in the National Council Flower Show School for Judges of Flower Shows, and teaches landscaping design, flower show practice and arrangements. As a member of the landscaping association she has had extensive and specialized training in landscape design, botany and horticulture.

She has studied at the Maryland Institute of Art at Baltimore, and majored in color and design. She recently returned from England where she studied Georgian and Tudor architecture under an extension course of the University of London.

The local garden club extended an invitation to all persons to attend the program, which will replace the regular monthly meeting of the organization. Mrs. Gilbert Miller, president, and Mrs. William Ryan, secretary, said a small admission fee will be charged for the two lectures.

The garden club officials also announced plans for a specialty flower show on Saturday, September 22, to be held at the Liberty Trust Company. This show will feature chrysanthemums, dahlias and arrangements of fall flowers. Ribbons will be awarded to winners in the show, which will be open for entries only by amateur gardeners.

Candidates for the post are Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, Republican, and John R. Foley, Democrat.

Teacher And Twins

This was a new experience all the way around yesterday at LaVale Elementary School, where Miss Patricia Anne Dixon is beginning her career as a first grade teacher. Looking at the book with her are the Twigg twins, Lana Sue and Lorimer Lee, who are enjoying their first day in the first grade.

Brotherhood To Take Stand In 6th District

New First Grade Teacher Enjoys Unusual Experience

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Few of the 50 new teachers in the Allegany County public school system which opened the 1956-57 school year yesterday had quite the novel experience of Miss Patricia Anne Dixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dixon, 696 Fayette Street.

Miss Dixon is a brand-new teacher and her classroom was filled with 23 brand-new first grade pupils at LaVale Elementary School.

The new teacher, who was homecoming queen at Frostburg State Teachers College last fall, recalled a number of amusing incidents last night about her first day in the classroom.

"Why are you children coming to school?" Miss Dixon asked her bright-eyed first graders.

"So we won't be dumb" was the sensible answer of one of the little boys in the room.

Teacher's Pet?

Another youngster started right off marching down the road to become teacher's pet. "I'm going to bring you 10 dozen flowers tomorrow," he promised.

One little girl, terrified momentarily at the prospects of having her picture taken with her teacher, vowed that she would not return to school today if her picture were taken. As was predicted, one little boy wept all morning long.

Miss Dixon got some welcome moral support during the morning hours from Miss Nellie R. Powell, principal of LaVale Elementary School. Miss Mildred E. Wilson, one of the three supervisors of elementary education came around after the half-day of class was over to offer some advice to the inexperienced teacher.

They are supporting proposals to change the Railway Retirement Act under which the wife of a retired railroader would start to receive pension benefits at age 60 instead of the present 65 years of age.

Another resolution called for a change in the law pertaining to the relief of workers on duty. At present a man is relieved after 16 hours but the B of LFE wants the time period changed to 12 hours.

"Right-to-work" legislation is opposed by the brotherhood under another resolution passed yesterday. The group also said it believes members of the Maryland State Police are underpaid and the department is undermanned. It urges remedial legislation by the next Legislature.

"I like this age group so much because they are so innocent and eager to learn. There is certainly nothing boring in the life of a first grade teacher."

The youngest of six children, Miss Dixon attended Mt. Royal Elementary School and was graduated from Allegany High School in 1952. In June she received her bachelor of science degree in elementary education from Frostburg State Teachers College.

In college, music and art most interested her. She performed with the Madrigal Singers and the Maryland Singers, belonged to Delta Kappa, national art fraternity, and had the female lead in two college operettas, "The Mikado" and "Down in the Valley."

She also was a member of Future Teachers of America.

With that music and art ability, Miss Dixon believes she will be able to keep her first graders interested in learning during dull moments.

Ward Assistant Resigns Post

Robert J. Franklin, assistant manager of the local Montgomery Ward store, has resigned his position. F. B. Sims, manager of the mail-order concern, announced last night.

Franklin has returned to Plainfield, N. J., where he has accepted a position as personnel manager for Rosenbaum's, an independent department store there.

The assistant manager had been with Montgomery Ward for approximately six years and had been assistant to Sims here for the last year and a half.

Originally from New Jersey, Franklin said he was forced to leave Montgomery Ward principally because of illness in his family which caused them to return to New Jersey.

This evening the graduating class will be entertained at a dance at the Cumberland Country Club by the Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

The dance will be held from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m.
